Mary Grace Reynolds Statement of Faith

I confess belief in the one, triune God, to whom I belong and am in service to. God is present in the tangible but transcends all-knowing and all matter. God, who is in intimate relationship with all of creation, expresses Godself in three distinct forms of the same person: The Father, Jesus Christ, and the Holy Spirit. I confess that God spoke creation into being from the chaos of nothingness. With a loving whisper, God artfully crafted the cosmos and declared that it was all good. Humanity, included in the vast created world, was made in God's own image in order that they might enjoy God's presence, and testify to God's goodness. God's image is mirrored in humanity and God has made Godself knowable through Holy Scripture and the nature of creation, for the pleasure and delight of all humanity. I confess that humanity, despite being created as good, has fallen into sin; from which humanity is unable to escape by its own ability. Humanity's turn toward sinfulness was a conscious one and the painful consequence for humanity's rejection of God's good rule is evil. Evil now permeates the whole of human experience and it serves to obstruct humanity from knowing God's goodness. Because of evil, humanity's ability to truly perceive God is marred. Now, out of self-interest, fear, and cruelty, humanity destroys, undermines, and exploits all of that which God declared very good. One person's sin becomes someone else's experience of evil and therefore, the reason for their broken understanding of God and self. While, through the help of God's grace, we can consciously move away from sin, we will never escape our own sinfulness. I confess that God poured Godself into the person of Jesus Christ, who entered into this sinfilled world through a human mother as a vulnerable baby. Jesus, who is fully God and fully human, lived a blameless life and through his ministry of healing and peace, is able to reconcile humanity to God. I confess that Jesus lived under imperial oppressors and was sentenced to die on the cross. While the depth of human depravity is illustrated by Jesus' horrific death on the cross, evidenced by our willingness to kill he who was blameless, Jesus' physical resurrection illustrates the strength of God's love. It is through the resurrection of Jesus Christ, which dealt a forceful blow to death, that God has redeemed the whole human race. I confess that the Church is the body of Christ, ordained by God to be the hands and feet of the Jesus on earth. It is the Church's privilege and ultimate duty to demonstrate the outward signs of God's grace through the proclamation of the Word of God and through the gifts of baptism and communion. I believe that the Church is continuously transformed by interaction with the Holy Spirit, who engages and empowers the Church through the waters of baptism and the nourishment of the bread and cup. The Spirit justifies us by grace through our faith and gives us courage. All are called by the Spirit, in all of the wonderful diversity they were created with by God, to the ministry of the Church. I confess that in time, at the end of all things, God will make all wrongs right and Jesus Christ, he who was resurrected from the tomb, will be made Lord of the whole earth. I rejoice that nothing in life or in death can separate humanity from the love of God in Christ, our Lord.
